Best Practice International Student Engagement Project – Danielle Hartridge

Deakin University has been contracted by the Australian Government to implement the Best Practice International Student Engagement Project under the International Education Innovation Fund (IEIF). The project team has undertaken desktop analysis and a series of workshops to identify enabling and inhibiting factors in international student engagement. Three surveys targeting institutions/stakeholders, international students and international graduates have further enhanced the early findings. A series of interviews have consolidated the international student engagement framework. Danielle will provide an update on the key themes identified so far and strategies to be implemented to showcase good practice in supporting international students.
